

Local Residents Tell Tales Of Earth Tremors Which Hit Coast

Local residents report they felt and heard the tremors, which were experienced on the Gulf Coast morning.

Edna Engelhorn of Rock Street, said, "Early morning the house and started shaking. Two of the house that were thrown open. I didn't give it any thought but it certainly felt like it."

"I heard the news about the earth tremors and I was what it was. If I had known before I would have been out to death."

Mrs. Nolan Ladner of Union Street, also told the Sea Coast Echo of a strange rumbling and the shaking of her house and windows about the same time.

Mrs. Ladner said, "At first I thought it was a heavy truck going down the street, but I went outside and didn't see anything. All the windows and the house shook. It only lasted a matter of seconds."

Mrs. J. R. McNeil of Ballentine Street reported a similar experience and shaking at her house the same time in the morning.

She stated that she thought it had been something like an earthquake and confirmed her thoughts when she heard it on the television.

John Carmichael of Main Street described the disturbance as being similar to a vibration. "In fact," he said, "when I heard the rumbling and the house shake, I didn't pay attention to it because I thought it was a train or a truck. But then I realized it was something else."

Holloway, coach and teacher at Pass Christian High School, said that a rumbling sound like thunder was heard in his classroom. He reported that their students did not show any unusual disturbance.

Dr. A. A. Steinmayer, head of the Tulane University geology department, stated that when the Mississippi River unloads a large amount of silt, the resulting adjustment may cause a shaking of the rocks in the Gulf's surface.

He added that a volcanic eruption in Mexico could also have caused an earth tremor on the Gulf coast.

People expressed the opinion that the earth tremors were caused by oil exploration in the Gulf and also by the movement around the oil fire in the Gulf.

Nothing definite has been determined to add to these reports.

St. Rose De Lima Founder Dies

Rev. Francis Baltes, S. V., one-time pastor here in Bay St. Louis, was buried on Tuesday at St. Augustine's Seminary. A solemn pontifical requiem mass, sung by His Excellency Bishop Richard O. Gerow, Natchez, immediately preceded the Absolution and burial ceremonies.

The priest who was the founder and first pastor of St. Rose de Lima Church on Necaise Avenue died in a Vicksburg hospital on Friday afternoon, Jan. 28. His death came after a long siege of illness which had halted the priestly and pastoral duties of his final years. The amiable priest, well-loved by many old-time residents of this city was in his 70th year when he died.

On Monday, Jan. 31, a solemn requiem high mass was sung at St. Mary's Church in Vicksburg where Father Baltes was pastor. At the mass sung for Father Baltes, Bishop Gerow delivered the funeral sermon. The priest's remains were then brought to this city, the scene of his earliest pastoral activities, to be buried at the local seminary.

The solemn pontifical high mass celebrated at the seminary on Tuesday was attended by about 40 priests who gathered from over Mississippi and Louisiana. Friends and parishioners of Father Baltes came from Vicksburg for the mass and burial. Local residents, parishioners and students of St. Rose de Lima filled the seminary chapel in paying final respects to the priest who years ago pioneered the church and school on Necaise Avenue.

Father Baltes was born in 1884 in Rassweiler near Trier, Germany. In 1897 he determined on the missionary-priest career and entered a seminary of the Divine Word Missionaries for training. His ordination came in 1909. After ordination he was assigned to Africa until 1914. The Divine Word Missionaries meanwhile were turning to the southern United States as another scene of labor, and Father Baltes was called to this new work.

He was at Greenville, Miss. when what is now the local seminary first got under way in Greenville. When the newly founded institution was moved to this city from Greenville, the young priest came with it. The year 1921 found him both teaching future priests at the young school and caring for the spiritual needs of the local Colored Catholics.

In connection with the latter activity, he built on Necaise Avenue a church and a school—the present day St. Rose de Lima parish. Eventually the pastoral duties at the parish claimed so much of the energetic priest's time that he was released from seminary classes to be St. Rose's first pastor. Local parishioners readily recall the priest's kindness and devotion.

After forming the parish here, Father Baltes transferred to Jackson, Miss., where he gave his labors to setting up there the present Holy Ghost Parochial High School. From Jackson he went to Vicksburg in 1946 where again he established a parochial high school. Until illness took him in his later years the priest busied himself teaching classes as well as caring for souls.

Legion Oratory Contest Planned

Sidney L. Bourgeois, Commander of American Legion Post 139, announced today that plans are being formulated by the American Legion and local school officials to have the high school students participate in the American Legion National Oratorical Contest.

The newly constructed Natural Gas System in the Town of Waveland is now in operation and residents can apply for this service.

Customers who place their application in at the Town Hall before March 1 will be furnished without cost service line to the property line.

But customers who file their application following this date will be charged $5 for the installation of any new service line up to the property boundary.

Mayor Garfield Ladner, who Tuesday turned on the valve at the regular station on Waveland Avenue, stated that he thought this was "the best thing that could ever happen to the town." He added, "It will certainly enhance the property values."

Edmond Gipson, general manager of the gas system, said "We have quite a few applications now and should get many more now since we are able to furnish the gas."

All of the gas lines and the service connections to the houses on the streets where the gas mains are located have been installed.

The Mayor promised that in the future extensions will be made to reach everybody with the natural gas line.

He stated that he expected the great amount of interest that is being received in the natural system.

Mayor Ladner said, "People realize that natural gas is easier to handle, it is safer and is more economical."

From the United Gas station in Kiln 100 pounds of pressure is being pumped into the regulator in Waveland. After it passes through that station, the pressure is reduced to a steady 15 pounds which flows through the city distribution line.

INQUIRING REPORTER

THE QUESTION

Do you think that Pass Christian played a smart game by freezing the ball throughout the whole contest against Bay High to stop the deadly shooting of Rosemary Millinery or do you think it was unsportsmanlike and left the spectators unsatisfied?

THE ANSWERS

Coach Donald Caldwell, Bay High - "I thought it was unsportsmanlike. It wasn't basketball. The tournament was set up to see who had the best team, not to see who could hold the ball the longest. If that was basketball the—n I am not coaching the right game."

Nolan Ladner, official—"I thought it was smart on the part of the Pass coach. If you can't run with a team then slow the game down and walk. It is the same as boxing. If a man is fighting a scientific boxer then he will slug with him. The same holds true in basketball."

Coach Herb Adams, St. Stanislaus—"A lot of people do not think that is the way to play the game. But the object is to win and Coach Holloway of Pass High was just trying to outsmart the other team."

Rosemary Millinery, player of Bay High—"I believe in playing basketball and I don't think that the game they played was basketball. I also thought it was unsportsmanlike and unfair."

At a combined dinner of all the civic and social organizations of Pass Christian held in Gulf Palms Restaurant last Saturday, the Lions club feted their choice of "Best Citizen of 1954" of the Pass, Mrs. Richard Purchner.

The selection, a surprise until that evening, was made by a secret Lions committee from entries sent in by all organizations. The letter which Lion President J. C. Necaise read before the gathering cited Mrs. Purchner as a "modern Florence Nightingale" for her devotion and care of the sick and needy in the Pass.

The selection was heartily seconded by Dr. C. D. Taylor, who told of his knowledge of her work at all hours of the day or night.

Mrs. Purchner received an inscribed plaque commemorating the honor, which is to be bestowed each year by the Lions. Other plaques were given the same evening to past Lion Presidents Bernard Hayden and Edgar Lively, and to Past Lion

COASTING

By ANNE ORLEANS

The snow has come and gone but this little story will help to remember those big white flakes. Albie Thompson, Ken and Dorothy Thompson's son, has been putting on a tough campaign for the last two winters trying to get his father and mother to go up to New York to visit his uncle and see real snow. You know parents. The answer was, "But, that is school time."

Recently, Albie celebrated his seventh birthday and was it fun. His mother had made a big birthday cake and one of his favorite birthday gifts was the football suit, specially the helmet. Considering that his birthday came on Sunday, January 23rd, the nicest gift of all was the snow.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Turner weekendend at their home on Clitzen Street and were terribly distressed that they were not here the week before to enjoy the snow.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Socola came over to their home on Oak Blvd., last week. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cavaroc of New Orleans, who have a place at Clermont Harbor, visited with them on Saturday afternoon. From there they went to the Ray Gordons and to the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nast taking a vacation from the cold weather in New York, visited with Genevieve and Lacey Richeson in New Orleans and spent the day with them at Rich Pines last Sunday. They will be at Sun and Sand for the rest of their visit.

Jeanne and Lionel Adams; and Devrie, the baby, also visited Rich Pines last week and particularly enjoyed it as they had not come over to the Coast for many weeks.

Prosperity Unprecedented

Seldom has the country gone into a New Year with the united optimism that ushered in 1955. All the so-called indices of business were on the up—production, sales and employment.

It looks like the world's most prosperous nation with only six percent of the earth's population which produces and consumes 50 percent of the world's goods and services is out to break another prosperity record.

It is well, however, to remind ourselves in this area of super-prosperity that no economic depression has ever come to this country in periods of scarcity - our panics have always come in times of abundance and always when they were least expected.

We also live in a super-spending area. Persons do not save as much out of their income as they did fifty years ago on account of the increased number of "necessities" available now that were unheard of half a century ago, and also, on account of the higher taxes. Consumers in the $3,000 and $4,000 income bracket, for example, saved 9 percent of their income in 1901, 5 percent in 1929 and 4 percent in 1953.

However, the South leads the nation in thrift. T. R. Atkinson, told the Southern Economic Association in Biloxi at a recent meeting there that "a slightly greater proportion of income is held in the upper income group in the South."

People in the South, inured to hard times, are practically thrifty, which is an encouraging trend where marked developments are under way and new capital is needed.

Periods of overflowing prosperity and easy money are good times to put something by for that uncertain future that has a way of catching up when we least expect it.

It's not too late in the New Year to resolve to spend wisely and save with prudence. It's so much easier to pay off one's debts and save money when the going is good.

Make 1955 a year of ultimate prosperity by building your fortunes and fortifying your future.

One of the recipes for which she is noted is appearing now "Jesse's Cookbook of Creole Recipes" recently published. It tells how to make baked, stuffed chicken.

On handy shelves in the Rousseau kitchen are evidences of this cook's handiwork in the form of pickled Jerusalem artichokes and marlitons.

The Rousseaus have been coming to the coast for about 34 years and as luck would have it, they decided to make their permanent home in 1916. The 1947 hurricane, which wrecked their home, put a damper on their early stay, but they busied themselves immediately afterward and are still hard at work refurbishing.

Jewelry Making Hobby Becomes Home Business

Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, one of the clever and enthusiastic members of the Clermont Harbor demonstration club, is displaying in even-widening areas her talent for making jewelry.

The dark-haired Mrs. Rousseau first began this intricate business several months ago, as a result of a trip to New Orleans. She saw a demonstration in a dime store while she was shopping.

"I thought I could work with beads and such as well as the lady who was demonstrating," said Mrs. Rousseau. And she has it a try.

Now, with a lot of practice behind her, she makes up her own patterns for costume jewelry and really prefers to work with difficult pieces.

"I do articles like rick-rack earrings," she said, "but they're quick and simple, I don't feel I've accomplished much."

She said, pointing to a lovely little pair of red-rick-rack earrings, centered with one pearl-like bead - very effective with summery cottons and most unusual under any circumstances.

Some of the other materials, the Clermont Harbor lady uses are sequins, beads, silver disks, and corks.

She can design necklaces and earrings, or can make up an order to the customer's specifications.

Most of the costume jewelry "sets" she designs and makes, have necklaces which are of a middle length. She can, however, make chokers or the new long, long necklaces which are so popular these days.

A coming item on the agenda will be the making of summer jewelry. Some of the big, lightweight earrings are already done and sell for about $1.25 a pair.

Sets of necklace and earrings made by this busy coast resident cost in the neighborhood of five dollars, depending on the amount of material used.

Mrs. Rousseau, in addition to making jewelry, has several other hobbies, including the never-ending building and decorating of her home on Oak St., gardening and cooking.

The Right Type

One of the saddest things about democracy, American style, is the attitude about who should be a candidate for office. Too often fine citizens—who could serve well—shy away from public office because they think it is disreputable—like being a pickpocket or something.

Too often petty thieves are elected to office not because they fooled the people, but only because the entire field of candidates was made up of petty thieves.

Of course, one reason for this is the ridiculously low pay handed public officials. A perfect example are the deputy sheriffs and constables of Mississippi. It is a disgrace the way some of them roam the highways, building speed traps. And many of them have their hands extended weekly to barrooms and the like for bribes.

But these men get no salary. So how else are they to earn a living? In effect, the people of Mississippi have told their county policeman, "You can have the job, but you'll have to go shake down the public for your salary."

Since it is established that you cannot honestly build much of a career as a county servant (except for a couple of high-paying jobs), the only hope is for honest men to come forth and run for public office as a civic duty.

We have had some fine men in office here. The current Bay St. Louis city administration is a good example.

But the time has come to extend this type of thinking throughout the county.

We do not mean that all county officials are crooks, or even bad civil servants. Far from it. But we do mean that in some quarters there has been a pretty corrupt brand of thinking—and some straight thinking men are needed as replacements.

That's up to the citizenry. And the first step is to find the right candidates, for you won't elect an honest man to anything, anywhere if the only candidates running are dishonest.

Think about it. If a good man is on the border line, urge him to run for office.
